

Postcard from my teacher

Dear Oak,

I hope you are all well and have enjoyed some sunshine. I decided I needed a new routine, so I have been doing a morning wake up 11 minute yoga each morning via You Tube. I have been going for a run, a bike ride or a walk each day too. I am still waiting for my mum to finish the book that I bought, she says it is very good. Hopefully, she will finish it this week, then I can enjoy reading it in the Easter holiday. I did laugh at myself when I had to use my fraction, ratio and proportion maths ... for baking chocolate brownies. I discovered I only had 120 g of chocolate (I needed 150g). So I used 100g - what fraction of 150g was that? Then had to calculate the fraction for the other ingredients. BTW the brownies were delicious and were gobbled up in an afternoon!

I will write again soon.
