

Postcard from my teacher

Dear Oak,

Put the bunting out, fire the confetti cannon --- I have completed Couch to 5k today! I still cannot quite believe that I managed to get off the couch and complete this challenge, I am super proud of myself. Mile a day, easy peasy lemon squeezy for me now (although very slowly and at a social distance to anyone else). What are you proud of yourself for this week?

I have just taken a photo of Lottie in a shoe box enjoying the afternoon sun while I write to you and I have included it as I know children in other classes are checking up on the animals that are appearing on postcards.

Some more of you have sent in work this week via the learning2@datchetstmarys.co.uk website. Some of you have been very very busy! I have enjoyed reading Powerpoints about famous architects, dialogues between characters. I am looking forward to hearing more about your new cooking skills too. It really is lovely to hear your news and know what you are doing. So please send me your news and any work that you would like me to see.

Love from Mrs Phillips
