

Postcard from my teacher

Dear Spruce,
What a lovely sunny half term we have had, we are so lucky. This week my son Henry asked if we could go for a long bike ride so we got up nice and early one morning and rode our bikes up to Windsor and around the castle. It was so quiet that we thought the Queen might still be sleeping. I think the eggs in our garden have hatched now because the magpies are finally leaving Molly alone and she can rest in peace. My children were very happy to hear that McDonalds was open this week as they got to have their first happy meal in a very long time which was quite handy as we are also having a new kitchen in our house so I haven't been able to cook this week. I am hoping it will be finished by Saturday though as it's my mum's birthday and we wanted to make her a cake.
Love from Mrs Gilchrist xx
