

Postcard from my teacher

Dear Olive,

This week I enjoyed listening to some of the children in school and learning about what they knew about the Maya. What have you learnt?

I hope you have managed some time outside this week despite the rain. Cookie has spent a lot of time looking out of the window; she's not a fan of rain! The plants in my garden have been appreciating some wetter weather! The cucumbers are growing nicely and something else is growing well. Do you recognise it? It was a very important vegetable to the Maya.

Our doodle maths has increased a little but it is still really low. Please, please do your doodle maths! Take care and I will write again soon.
