

Postcard from my teacher

Dear Olive,

This week has been hot! I hope you are managing to stay cool and out of the sun. Cookie has been finding it hot and stretches out in the shade.

The cucumbers have gone absolutely bonkers in my garden, there are lots of them and they need a lot of watering! Did you guess what the plant was last week that was so special to the Maya? It was sweetcorn.

At the weekend I came into school and planted out the Reflective garden. Do you remember you painted the lovely stones for it a few years ago? It looks really beautiful and will be ready for you in September.

Please make sure you do your doodle maths, if you have forgotten your password please email the school and I can send you your details.

Take care and I will write again soon.
