

Postcard from my teacher

Dear Bonsai,

I hope you've all enjoyed your half term and have begun to make a start on this week's work.

I forgot to mention last time that it would be great if you can be going onto Doodle maths regularly, and keeping your times tables up to scratch with Hit the Button. It really will help you stay confident with your number work.

This week we've been going for more walks and I've even met a friend to have a catch up – it was great to see someone I haven't met up with for a long time. We had lots of news to tell each other! Have you been out to see anyone new?

Last Thursday we did the final clap for the NHS and all my neighbours came out one more time to show our appreciation for all the hard work the NHS and key workers have been doing. It made us feel very proud to have been a part of it.

I'll write again next week, please stay safe 😊
