

Postcard from my teacher

Dear Chestnut,

I hope you have all had a wonderful week. What have you been up to? There have been one or two rainy days, so I've spent some time reading to Alex; he particularly likes 'The Tiger Who Came to Tea' at the moment because of all the pictures in the book. Which books have you read recently? I've also been in the kitchen trying to cook homemade pizzas. My pizzas didn't quite look like the ones you get in a restaurant, but they tasted very nice all the same. My favourite topping is pepperoni. How about you? Yet again, I am thrilled by all the work being sent in this week. You are superstars! Keep up the great efforts, Chestnut. Stay well and I will write again soon.

From,

Miss Smith. x
